

matters scheduled to occur in the period just before schools' traditional winter break. Accordingly, a briefing extension of 30 days would permit BASD's counsel to finalize the Appellees' Brief during the time that most of its clients are on vacation.

3. Counsel for the Appellants and for the Intervenor-Appellee Pennsylvania Youth Congress Foundation ("PYCF") have stated that they do not oppose BASD's request.

4. On November 27, 2018, PYCF filed a motion for an extension of time until January 16, 2018, to file its Appellee's Brief. That motion was granted on November 28, 2018.

5. BASD has not sought a prior extension of time in this case.¹

6. An extension of time shorter than 30 days would make Appellees' briefs due in the middle of holiday observances.

7. A 30-day extension would make BASD's brief due on January 13, 2018, which is a Saturday. Tuesday, January 16, 2018 is the next day that the court is open for business.

8. An extension of time until January 16, 2018 would also make BASD's Appellee's Brief due on the same day as PYCF's Appellee's Brief.

WHEREFORE, BASD respectfully requests that this Court grant this motion for an extension of time.

Respectfully submitted,

November 28, 2018
